ADJOURNMENT

The Medical Board adjourned at 12:17 p.m. on Friday, November 22, 2019.

John W. Rusher, MD; Secretary/Treasurer

Physician Practice Drift

When physicians are granted a license by the Board, they are generally given the privilege of practicing the full breadth of medicine and are not limited to a particular specialty. This general medical license allows physicians a certain degree of discretion to expand or shift their practice areas. The Board recognizes that medicine is a dynamic field that, along with individual practices, continues to evolve. Economic pressures, business opportunities, lifestyle considerations, and access to care are all reasons that physicians move into new areas of practice.

When considering changes to one's area of practice, physicians have a professional and ethical duty to put their patients' interests first and only offer medical care that the physician is competent to provide. Patient harm can occur when physicians practice outside of areas in which they have been adequately trained.

Physicians intending to expand their practice to a new area should ensure that they have acquired the appropriate level of education and training. This may involve seeking additional training by attending appropriate educational programs. Physicians should be prepared to provide information about their qualifications and any additional training that has prepared them to provide medical care outside the physician's original area of practice. It may also be prudent for physicians to confirm that their liability insurance provides coverage for the procedures they intend to perform.

It is the Board's position that all physicians, irrespective of their area of training, will be held to the standard of acceptable and prevailing medical practice in the specialty area that the care was rendered as set forth in N.C. Gen. Stat. § 90-14(a)(6).

The Board also refers its licensees to the Board's Position Statement entitled "Physician Supervision of Other Licensed Health Care Practitioners" and Board rules 21 NCAC 32S .0213 (addressing physician supervision of physician assistants) and 21 NCAC 32M .0102 (addressing the scope of practice of nurse practitioner).

Child Maltreatment

It is the position of the North Carolina Medical Board that child maltreatment (abuse and neglect) presents a significant risk to the health and well-being of North Carolinians. The Board's licensees have a legal responsibility to report as soon as practicable "cases involving recurrent illness or serious physical injury to any child under the age of 18 years where the illness or injury appears, in the physician's professional judgment, to be the result of non-accidental trauma." N.C. Gen. Stat. § 90-21.20(c1).^{*} It should also be noted that the statute provides civil and criminal immunity for reports made in good faith by physicians and other related personnel or institutions.

This legal and ethical obligation to report requires a licensee to recognize the signs, symptoms, and etiology of child maltreatment. Licensees are also encouraged to learn how to refer children for expert medical evaluations of possible maltreatment.

The following links provide detailed information on the state's reporting requirements and web-based training on recognition of child maltreatment:

<http://www.preventchildabusenc.org/services/trainings-and-professional-development/rrcourse>

^{*}This obligation specific to physicians is in addition to the legal requirement that any person or institution in North Carolina "who has cause to suspect that any juvenile is abused, neglected, or dependent, as defined by N.C. Gen. Stat. § 7B-101, or has died as the result of maltreatment, shall report the case of that juvenile to the director of the department of social services in the county where the juvenile resides or is found." N.C. Gen. Stat. § 7B-301(a). This statute also provides criminal penalties for "knowingly or wantonly failing to make a report, or preventing someone else from making a report" when required by law.
