Following this meeting with Mr. Flaherty to discuss the physician shortage in North Carolina, and particularly in North Carolina state institutions, the Board discussed Mr. Flaherty's ideas and proposals.

VERDICT: Dr. Staub moved that candidates for full licensure in North Carolina in state mental hospitals be allowed to take the first two available examinations, with 70% as an acceptable grade to be made on the first examination, and the second examination must conform to the standards of FLEX acceptable for licensure in North Carolina, that is 75%. Seconded by Dr. Hooper and duly passed.

VERDICT: Dr. Hooper moved that this Board advise Mr. Flaherty what this Board's standards are for licensure and to enable him to secure graduate physicians who meet those standards, the Board shall send him a list of the top ten foreign medical schools whose graduates have met those standards during the past five years most successfully and would encourage any program by the Department of Human Resources that would be beneficial to the delivery of medical care in this state. RE: Dr. Thomas O. Wheless, Louisburg, N. C. -- appeared for a routine interview. Dr. Wheless advised that he was doing well and was having no personal problems. A few problems existed in his practice as the result of his not being able to write prescriptions for hard narcotics. He stated he has taken no drugs since his last appearance before the Board, even none since 1966. Dr. Wheless stated he felt if the Board felt he were eligible for reinstatement of his narcotic privileges, they would so advise him.

VERDICT: Dr. Edmondson moved that the Board advise Dr. Wheless they are proud of the way he has conducted himself since his last encounter with drugs and it is better now to pursue the same course of action rather than to reinstate his full narcotic privileges. Seconded by Dr. Hooper, duly passed and Dr. Wheless so advised. Dr. Wheless is to be seen again before the Board in one year.

RE: Dr. James Richard Hughes, Raleigh, N. C. -- appeared for a routine interview. Dr. Hughes stated he was doing very well and feeling very well, physically. He advised he has no personal problems nor any problems with alcohol or drugs. He said he does not feel threatened in any way by drugs now, but would continue to avoid getting involved with them in any way whatsoever, as he is now enjoying living too much, in addition to enjoying his work.

VERDICT: The Board advised Dr. Hughes they were pleased to see him looking so well and were glad he was doing well in his work and personal life. Dr. Hughes is to be seen in December, 1973.

RE: Dr. William M. Bethune, Jr., Goldsboro, N. C. -- appeared for a routine interview. Dr. Bethune stated he had made a study of himself and his personality and believed that he was depressive, but he had now learned to live with it and how to handle it, by placing himself in the care of a physician and not resorting to drugs and alcohol. He has been traveling out of the country with the Department of Justice, talking with law enforcement groups, and has been offered a position as Psychiatric Director with the Duplin County Mental Health Center and is seriously considering it. He now does some private practice and counseling at Seymour Johnson Air Force Base in addition to his work out of the country. He is on no medication except Lithium. VERDICT: The Board commended Dr. Bethune for his progress and advised him they would like to talk with him in about six months. (December, 1973)

RE: Dr. Lonnie Marcus Little, Statesville, N. C. -- appeared at request of the Board following a report received from the North Carolina Board of Pharmacy that he appeared to be prescribing large amounts of amphetamines, many of the prescriptions being picked up by young people who did not appear to have a weight problem, and many of the people having out of town addresses. Dr. Little stated he had never prescribed any amphetamine-type drug for anyone who was not overweight. He stated he did not feel the number of prescriptions written as compared with the number patients seen was "very much out of line." Dr. Little said he never prescribed any of these drugs without a physical examination, but he admitted that possibly he maintained patients too long on these drugs, in that possibly he was too easily swayed by his patients. Dr. Little also admitted that possibly he had not paid enough attention to the new information on the dangers of amphetamine usage. He advised that the first of June he had placed a sign in his office, "No Diet Pills" and since that time has not written any prescriptions for same (since receiving the request to appear before the Board) and stated he did not dispense any of these drugs in his office.

VERDICT: Dr. Little was told that this Board is very concerned with this problem, particularly when young people are involved and that despite the fact of how many patients he saw, he was prescribing many more of these amphetamines than most physicians. The Board advised that they were pleased he had abandoned the use of these drugs and would take his word as to what he plans to do in this regard. He was told that he would still be closely watched and if things appeared to be out of line again, he would be recalled before the Board, with possibly more stringent action being taken.

RE: Dr. Bennie Brooks Ward, Shallote, N. C. -- Dr. Ward was requested to appear before the Board following receipt of information by Board member that he might be having some trouble with drugs again. Dr. Ward advised that this was not true, that he was well and very busy. He stated he has used no drugs and has had no illnesses, except for high cholesterol. Dr. Ward said he had been hospitalized at Wake Memorial Hospital for depression by Dr. Harper and was on some medication in the hospital for about four days, but this depression was not the result of drugs, although he had been drinking some. He advised that when he felt depressed or had a problem, he was seeking consultation for it, but he did not feel he had any serious problems.

VERDICT: Dr. Ward was advised that the Board was glad the information received in relation to his having some trouble with drugs was wrong. They wanted him to realize that the Board wanted to help him with any problems he might have and to please let the Board know if he had any problems. Dr. Ward was instructed to have Dr. Harper furnish the Board a report of his stay at Wake Memorial Hospital in Raleigh and was further admonished not to let alcohol cause him any problems.

RE: Dr. Matthew A. J. Stroup, Gastonia, N. C. -- Dr. Stroup appeared at the request of the Board following receipt of report from the North Carolina Board of Pharmacy that Dr. Stroup was prescribing a large amount of amphetamines, 232 prescriptions for 9,632 units during a two month, 10 day period. Dr. Stroup advised that about one third of his practice was with overweight patients and these drugs were used for them, until they were no longer available. He advised he had taken Desbutal, one or two, ever so often, since 1952, following severe dizzy and weak spells. He stated the reason for prescribing for large numbers of these drugs at the time was when he found out the drug would be taken off the market, he was trying to build up a supply so he could gradually get off the drugs himself. He also said he had prescribed dexamyl and desbutal for purposes other than weight loss, such as "feeling tired and feeling run-down generally", for some of his patients. He said he had not considered these drugs as dangerous until the last couple of months when he realized they were being taken off the market. He stated he did not feel he was addicted to amphetamines himself and was not dependent on these drugs and did not feel he had gotten any patients dependent on them. Dr. Stroup said he does not feel amphetamines are a habituating drug--he has stopped at times and can stop any time. He said he has diabetic neuropathy of the feet and he becomes very tired and would have these drugs on hand if needed.

Dr. Stroup said he does have an in-hospital practice, works about two hours in the office at a time and then has to rest and returns to the office in the afternoon and at night. His practice is Internal Medicine. He said his taking Desbutal was no problem as he can do without it when he has to, as there is none available now. He stated he is not giving these drugs as mood elevators now.

VERDICT: Dr. Stroup was advised that the Board was extremely worried at his laissez-faire attitude toward this type of drug and felt that possibly he does not know the dangers of this type of drug. He was told that he would be monitored very closely and if any drugs were prescribed that were even related to amphetamines, more punitive action would have to be taken. The Secretary advised Dr. Stroup that the Board was concerned that a physician would encourage people in the use of amphetamines for mood elevators and that he should not even look for non-controlled drugs for this type of use. He was told that he may be called back before the Board. He was advised to review the BNDD schedule and possibly check with a reliable pharmacy or the Board of Pharmacy or a BNDD agent as to drug classification for his own benefit as well as that of his patients.

The Executive Secretary was instructed to request the Board of Pharmacy to carry out a prescription check on Dr. Stroup for a two-month period beginning July 1, 1973 through August 31, 1973 and report at the October Board meeting on the results of same.

RE: Dr. Henry Oldham Williams, Durham, N. C. -- appeared for a routine interview. Dr. Williams stated that, personally and professionally, things were going quite well for him. He stated his family life was going well now and that he would not have planned a family if he had not expected his life to continue that way. He advised he has now settled on radiation therapy for his practice and has one more year of training. Dr. Williams said he has no doubts about the future with the exception of concern over what effect his record with drugs in North Carolina would have on his future practice of medicine in other states. He has used no drugs and has had no occasion or desire to do so, and has had no problem, ever, with alcohol. He has been appointed Chief Resident and is assuming more responsibilities in his department and advised that at times, his inability to write prescriptions for narcotics has caused him some embarrassment and problems, although full narcotic privileges are not absolutely necessary in his work. He advised the Board that he would never again write a prescription for narcotics for himself and would never take any drugs--narcotics--again. He stated he sees his psychiatrist infrequently now, about every few months, and the visits are routine.

VERDICT: Dr. Taylor moved that Dr. Henry O. Williams' BNDD privileges be reinstated and he be given the privilege of re-applying for same and should be seen again before the Board in six months. At that time, Dr. Cavanaugh is to be requested to let the Board have a report on Dr. Williams and his progress and Dr. Cavanaugh is to be advised the action taken by this Board. Seconded by Dr. Staub and duly passed.

Dr. Williams was advised of this action and instructed Dr. Williams to continue his psychiatric therapy as he and his physician felt necessary and he should plan to return before the Board every six months for the next three periods.

Dr. Medlin advised that he had had many family problems with his brother and his family and had found himself caught in the middle. this period, writing prescriptions for himself, at night or on week-ends, for eight or nine months, by mouth and injection. He stated he is only taking Elavil now, 100 mg. at night, and is seeing his psychiatrist now regularly. Dr. Medlin said he feels now that all of his problems have been resolved and since his brother's problems have straightened out, things are going much better in general.

VERDICT: The Board informed Dr. Medlin that they were extremely disappointed that he had had no trouble for eight years and had again subjected himself to drugs. He was warned that if this happens again, more punitive action might have to be taken. He was instructed to plan to appear before the Board at every meeting until advised otherwise.

The Executive Secretary was instructed to request Dr. Medlin to have his psychiatrist mail a report of his progress to the Board.

There being no further old or new business for discussion, Dr. Edmondson moved that the meeting be adjourned. Seconded by Dr. Staub and duly passed.
